Positive Signs and the Neuro Exam

Across

1. Something bright that can add to sensory overload.
3. A supporter might offer company, help, quiet, or some ___.
6. Changing this may improve walking
7. What an entrained tremor may do
9. What muscles help you do
10. Involuntary shaking that may change
14. One activity during an examination
16. Symptoms happen without choosing them
17. How a useful sign should be
18. What rehabilitation can do with ability
19. Available capacity describes what you can manage right ___.
21. Repeating movement to build ability
23. Spending time with someone is a social activity that can use capacity.
24. What clinicians look for across tasks
27. When saying ·I·m a little tired· does not come close to describing how you feel.
28. A sign supporting an FND diagnosis
29. An activity that may need to stop when symptoms make it unsafe.
30. Change where attention is directed

Down

2. May copy a rhythm during testing
4. Doing something deliberately, or on ___
5. What a clear pattern should do
7. Can influence movement and symptoms
8. Remembering, a function FND may affect
11. Treatment building on available abilities
12. What a clinician may do with a sign
13. Shifting this may change symptoms
15. Finding that supports an FND diagnosis
17. Follow another movement's rhythm
20. Moving with less difficulty
22. Tremor matching another movement's rhythm
25. In a theory that uses kitchen utensils, this item represents part of your available capacity.
26. The effort or pressure that an activity puts on you.