Finding Your Way Through the Reference Library

Across

3. A
request to see another healthcare professional.

6. Conscious
of what's happening around you.

8. A
clickable web shortcut, no chain required.

11. Easy to understand, like a good explanation.

12. Term
sometimes used before 'seizures' to mean functional.

14. Initials
for a test of brain electrical activity.

15. A sign
before an episode, when one occurs.

17. What a diagnosis should help guide, not end.

20. Hunt
for information without a magnifying glass.

21. Tailored to the person's needs, not one-size-fits-all.

23. Move
back and forth, as some seizures involve.

Down

1. One
stop on a reference website.

2. Use
words, sometimes impossible during an episode.

4. A
neurological condition that can cause seizures.

5. Capture
an event on camera.

7. Information
collection; overdue fines not included.

9. Brainwave
test with a camera rolling.

10. Careful
clinical evaluation, not a quick guess.

13. Possible
approaches to discuss with a care team.

16. A
second look, not a film critic's job.

17. Open a
web link, no doorbell needed.

18. A
source that helps you find your way.

19. A
diagnosis's name tag, not its life story.

22. Moving pictures recorded alongside an EEG.
